

Dunson-Bradford.

A wedding which will rank among the beautiful ceremonies of the season, and of general interest in Tennessee and Georgia society, was that of Miss Eula Leigh Bradford of Cumberland, City, Tenn., and Mr. Jarrell Ridley Dunson of La Grange, Ga., which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's brother, Dr. G. L. Powers, in this city on Wednesday afternoon, August 25th, in the presence of a limited number of relatives and friends. The impressive Episcopal ring ceremony being said by the Rev. C. A. Waterfield of the First Methodist Church.

The entire lower floor of the Powers home was thrown together for the occasion and artistically decorated.

Roses, asters, marigolds and ferns being used in profusion, except in the library where the ceremony took place. There a white and green color motif was carried out most effectively. In the opening between the library and dining room was erected a beautiful arch trimmed with Confederate Jesamine. Suspended underneath was a green basket filled with white asters, held in place with a white tulle bow. Ferns and white asters were banked on either side the whole making a beautiful background for the charming picture.

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of white charmeuse, combined with vanetian lace and seed pearls, her veil was caught with orange blossoms and fell over the court train. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Joe Gray, sister of the bride, was gowned in white crepe de chine and carried purple asters. The maids of honor, Misses Marie and Louise Bradford, sisters of the bride, and the brides maids, Misses Christine Bradford and Sallie Martha Dunbar, were each gowned in white organdie with blue taffeta jackets, and carried baskets of pink and blue asters.

The bride entered with her brother, Dr. G. L. Powers, who gave her in marriage. The groom was attended by Mr. J. D. Hudson of LaGrange, as best man. Little Alex Randolph Powers was a veritable cupid as ring bearer. Before the ceremony Miss Sarah Gray of Dover, sang "The Perfect Day," and Mrs. Will Howell of Dover, rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bridal party entered.

The bride is a graduate of the Boston school of Expression, and is very talented, having won many laurels in her chosen work in Boston and also in Nashville, where she spent two years. Also in Georgia where she has been for two years.

The groom is a rising young business man, of La Grange, and is associated with his father in extensive Woolen Mills of La Grange, and stands very high in business and social circles.

The wedding gifts were numerous and handsome—including a chest of silver from New York friends, much china and cut glass and several checks of various amounts from the groom's father and other relatives.

After the ceremony Mr. Dunson and bride left for the mountains of North Carolina to spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Dunson wore for traveling a midnight blue cloth suit, with lace blouse, and hat to harmonize. They will reside in La Grange, Ga.

Among the out of town guests were, Mr. J. D. Hudson, La Grange, Ga; Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bradford, Mrs. Neil Crockwell, Mrs. W. T. Thomas, Misses Marie, Louise and Christine Bradford, of Cumberland City; Miss Sallie Martha Dunbar, of Clarksville; Mrs. Will Howell and Miss Sarah Gray, of Dover.

Danger Signals of Tuberculosis

IN a previous article, it was stated that nearly everybody has tuberculosis at some time or other during his lifetime. Autopsies on people have shown that hardly a single human being reaches mature life without a scar on his lungs or elsewhere showing where tuberculosis had attacked him, and he, by his normal resistance and vitality, had warded off the continuation of the attack.

Because tuberculosis is so widespread, every man, woman and child should give the most careful attention to those signs of the disease which point out danger. The treacherous disease germs may enter the body in early childhood and may not cause any serious trouble for ten or fifteen years. Then, all of a sudden, when the body is weakened by overwork, worry, sickness, or bad living and working conditions, these sleeping germs wake up and become active in the destruction of the lungs or other organs. The working man or woman, therefore, cannot be too careful in the safeguarding of health and in watching out for those symptoms which indicate that the disease of tuberculosis is actually present. What, then, are some of the danger signals and what should be done about them?

(1) First of all, there is a cough that hangs on and will not clear up. If it lasts for a month or longer, it is a red light, a danger signal, which you cannot afford to ignore. It may start with wet feet or some other insignificant circumstance, but no matter how the cough started, if it does not go away, see your doctor at once. Colds frequently weaken the bodily tone and resistance, so that it is easy for the lurking germs to get a foothold.

(2) Loss of weight, accompanied by a loss of appetite, and a certain amount of "stomach trouble" is another danger signal, which you must not pass unheeded. Sometimes loss of weight may come from some other cause than tuberculosis, but it pays to be on your guard. You may not have a cough, and you may experience very little trouble except a sort of chronic weariness. You ought to know what your normal weight should be. If you begin to lose five, ten or more pounds without any apparent reason, look for sound medical advice at once. Sometimes with loss of weight goes a loss of appetite, and trouble with bowels and stomach, even running to diarrhea. Whether you are losing much weight or not, look out for this danger signal. It is a warning that something is wrong.

(3) Then there is that run-down, all-the-time-tired feeling. Most people have days when they feel unusually tired, for some reason or other. Such an occasional period of "spring fever" or "lazy liver" may not be at all dangerous, but when every day for two or three weeks you hate to get up and dread to do anything but lie around and be lazy, there is danger ahead. This is Nature's warning to you that some enemy inside your body is sapping your vitality. Don't ignore the warning signal!

(4) Anyone of the three symptoms just mentioned may occur singly or all of them may come at one time. When, to any or all, there is added a fever in the late afternoon or during the night, accompanied possibly by sweats, beware of this danger signal. It is a bright red flag which Nature waves before you, cautioning you to give immediate heed. Anyone's temperature may rise at times, some people's more easily than others. But when for a week every afternoon about four or five o'clock you've felt feverish, or when night after night you wake up in a dripping sweat, you may rest assured that there is nothing normal about that. Go to your doctor at once and tell him about it. You may have no cough and no other sign of disease, and this may be the only warning you'll get. Give heed to it at once.

(5) If you have a cough and in spitting you find streaks of blood in your sputum, you may rest assured that something is wrong. It may not be a direct sign of tuberculosis, but whatever it is, you should attend to it at once. You cannot afford to waste time putting it off. Nature may give you that more emphatic warning of the presence of tuberculosis, a hemorrhage of the lungs. If so, don't be scared unduly. It is a danger signal, and if you heed it, you may be safe.

There are other danger signals, some which you can see and some which only a trained physician can detect. Your safety lies in getting medical attention as early as possible. Tuberculosis can be cured if it is discovered in time. The time to discover it is when the first symptoms show themselves. Don't take chances with Death. You'll lose every time.

Go to a good doctor, if you notice any of these danger signals, and insist that he examine you stripped to the waist. If you can't afford a doctor, go to a free clinic and be examined. It may cost a few dollars to be examined, but it may save you hundreds of dollars, untold suffering, and possibly your life and that of your wife and family.

"SAFETY FIRST" is a motto that applies to tuberculosis, especially when it is first showing itself.
